THE JAPS ATTACK

The Contemplated Assault Has Begun

RUSSIAN FORCES STRENGTHENED

Kuropatkin Reported Marching to the Relief of the Beleaguered City With a Large Force

Tokio, June 9th.—Admiral Togo reports that on the night of June 7th he sent eight small torpedo boats from the battleships of his squadron to make a reconnaissance off Port Arthur harbor. The boats went far inside the leads and were exposed to the Russian fire. One sailor and one petty officer were killed in the operation but the boats escaped undamaged.

Admiral Kataoka reports that on June 6th he landed men on San Shan and Taku Islands in Talien Wan Bay for the purpose of making a reconnaissance. They found that many of the buildings thereon were only partially destroyed. In the hospital some supplies were also found.

A severe fight may be expected at Kin Chow where the Japanese are concentrated in the positions captured from the Russians. The Japanese north of Pux Landien, are apparently retreating on this place. The Japanese have not effected a landing at Kal Chau. Their fleet of 25 transports loaded with war material and provisions, which are lying off Kal Chau, has disappeared. Stores for the Japanese army are reaching Kin Chow, from all directions. In the recent fighting the Japanese, it is estimated, lost 220 killed or wounded.

Chefoo, June 9th.—The Japanese are bombarding Port Arthur daily from a considerable distance off the shore, fearing to attempt a close range on account of danger from the Russian mines. The Russian officials have notified the Chinese that officers who have treated Chinamen cruelly have to be punished. Both sides are doing their utmost to earn the good will of the Chinese.

St. Petersburg, June 10.—The report reaches here that Admiral Skrydloff made an attempt to leave Vladivostok with his squadron, but found the Japanese force too strong and put back after an exchange of shots in which no damage was done. It is reported that Kuropatkin is moving south at the head of a large army for the purpose of making an attempt to relieve Port Arthur. He has enough men to hold Kuroki in check outside the relief column.

St. Petersburg, June 10.—General Kuropatkin telegraphs the Emperor, "A Japanese brigade attacked a Russian detachment occupying Saimatzai, on June 7th. The Russians retired slowly because of the enemy's great superiority, towards Fen Chu Lin pass. Our losses were two officers wounded and one hundred soldiers killed or wounded."

Chefoo, June 10.—The long contemplated attack by the Japanese on Port Arthur began early this morning. The Russian forces around the beleaguered city were reinforced by the troops which had garrisoned Dalny and Kin Chow. The Russian vessels in the harbor with their great guns aided the land forces in repelling the attack. The fighting still goes on.

CONCERT AND DANCE.

The skating rink was a scene of gaiety last evening when the beauty and the chivalry of Edmonton gathered at the grand concert and ball given by the local lodges A. F. & A. M. to the officers and visiting members of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba and the M. W. T. The decorations of the hall were completed were undoubtedly the most elaborate yet seen in an Edmonton hall. The intention had been to have the ball in the nature of a private affair for members of the Order only, as it was thought the large number of members in town on the occasion would tax the accommodation of the building but toward the last the rules were relaxed and the members

The author puts into a picturesque story of the peaceful conquest of the great Louisiana territory the whole American spirit of a very critical period. It was during the years covered by this vigorous novel that the country proved the depth and value of the ideals created during the times of which "Richard Carvel" gave so convincing a picture.

The first chapters open with the days when the Carolinas were upon the frontier, and Andy Jackson was a red-tailed boy, felled by the schoolmaster for fighting. They carry the hero, young Davy, over the Cumberland Mountains, to share the adventures of the famous leader and Indian fighter, George Rogers Clark.

RED DEER, ALBERTABulletin Correspondence.

A large number of dwelling houses are being erected here this year, nearly all of which are of a good, substantial nature.

Work on the court house has been started, but owing to the rain it is not progressing very favorably.

Crops in this district were damaged by a slight frost this week, but are looking good now.

A large test well for the trial of the new gasoline fire engine which is on the road here, is nearing completion. The flow of water in it is good and it is thought a number of these in town will answer as well as water works for some years to come.

Both lumber companies received all their drives of logs here safely this year with a very small loss. Both companies have a large summer's cut ahead of them for this year.

Brick making is now in full swing. Piper & Co. have two machines working all the time and they are also shipping a number of cars. The Red Deer Brick Co. have also started the season's work, and have shipped a number of cars.

The Red Deer baseball team played a walkway game with the Innisfail team on Wednesday evening. The home team were in fine form, but the visitors who tried their hardest to play ball, made a terrible mistake when they started to play with our boys. The official score was not kept. The score at the end of the game stood 34 to 1 in favor of the home team. Red Deer plays Edmonton at Edmonton on June 15th. Red Deer vs. Wetaskiwin on June 16th. Red Deer vs. Calgary at Red Deer on July 1st.

Red Deer intends to hold a monster celebration on July 1st for Central Alberta. A good program is being arranged and a fine day's sport is expected.

A number of settlers have arrived here lately and are well pleased with the town and country.

THE SYNOD MEETING

The Winnipeg Free Press publishes the following interview with Dr. Kilpatrick regarding the recent meeting of the synod in Edmonton:

"This young city," he says, "is at the present time making marked progress, growing rapidly in anticipation of the still larger growth which will come with the advent of the C. N. and G. T. P. railways. The Presbyterian church, in which the synod was held, is spacious and handsome and already there is talk of getting another church built in the outskirts of the city."

Members came to the synod from as far as Vancouver to the west, from which city the Rev. Mr. Laird, of St. John's, and Rev. Mr. Wilson, of St. Andrew's were delegates. From the south came Rev. J. H. Robertson, a graduate of Manitoba college, who is the minister at Grand Forks, B.C. "The business of the synod," Dr. Kilpatrick says, "was conducted with great animation and with evident skill in the management of several difficult and delicate cases. The prudence, patience and clearness with which these were handled say much for the ecclesiastical statesmanship of western men."

The synod was followed by a summer school, this being something entirely new in Western Presbyterianism. The combined meetings lasted six days. Dr. Kilpatrick speaking of this, says: "Perhaps the greatest drawback in the life of ministers in the west, is their isolation, and accordingly ministers wisely avail themselves of any opportunity which may present itself of gathering together for mutual helpfulness and enlightenment."

The topics discussed in the school included the higher criticism, archaeology, various aspects of practical work, topics connected with the great doctrines of the faith, also Mormonism, which is at the present time a living and even a burning question. On this topic a course of lectures was given by Dr. Kilpatrick, a synopsis of which will appear in an early number of the Presbyterian.

About the discussion on this subject Dr. Kilpatrick says: "The members of the synod discussed the doctrinal and ethical aspects of Mormonism with much fairness and with sincere desire to estimate aright the point of view of their Mormon fellow-citizens. Their belief was that the policy of the Christian church respecting the Mormons resident in Canada must be inspired by motives of the utmost kindness and consideration and by scrupulous avoidance of needless irritation."

After the meeting of the synod and the summer school, Dr. Kilpatrick was joined by Mrs. Kilpatrick, and they had a very pleasant trip through the mountains, stopping over for little visits at Banff, Glacier, Revelstoke, Nelson and Fernie. Dr. Kilpatrick enjoys to the full the grandeur and beauty of the Rocky mountain scenery.

"From the magnificence of her scenery and her inexhaustible wealth, British Columbia is the finest jewel in the crown of the Dominion."

"Along with this splendid dower, however, the coast province presents problems, social and political, of a very serious nature. Complaints are still rife regarding the conditions of public life in British Columbia. Without estimating the worth of these complaints, it may undoubtedly be said that this province demands of the utmost patriotism on the part of all her citizens, and profound sympathy on the part of all lovers of their country. It is frequently said by those who know the province best, that British Columbia requires two things, character and capital—and the greater of these is character."

To the Public

Having sold my dental practice and good will to Drs. Lowther and Robertson, I wish to thank my numerous patients for their patronage in the past and ask them as a matter of personal interest to extend the same to my successors as I consider they have no equals in the West and few superiors anywhere. Dr. Lowther has been associated with me for some time both here and in the East. If a brilliant college course in one of America's greatest dental schools, if honesty, sobriety and skill count for anything, then I have no hesitation in recommending Drs. Lowther and Robertson to my friends. Sincerely yours,

Haslam Supports the Government

The following letter was originally published in the Free Press of May 9, having been refused publication by the newspaper to which it was addressed:

To the Editor of the Telegram, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

Dear Sir,—I have been requested by a number of my friends in Manitoba and eastern Canada to give my views for publication on some of the important matters occupying the attention of Canadians at the present time. I do not know of any particular reason why my opinions should be of public interest, but as I give some small attention to the study of current affairs, particularly as they affect my own country, I hope that it will not be thought presumptuous or out of place for me to do so.

I have been asked in a great many quarters what effect, in my opinion, the presence of a large number of American settlers in western Canada would have on the future relation of our country to the empire. I thought at one time that the tendency would be to Americanize the Northwest; but I find the more intelligent and thoughtful of the American people who are now residents of western Canada, or interested largely in its welfare, have become thoroughly satisfied with its present political conditions.

Canada must for the next fifty years, at least, be a large producer of raw materials, and particularly of food products. It is merely conceivable that our population will increase so rapidly, and our manufacturing development reach such proportions, that our people will, as in the case with most other countries, consume a large proportion of the products of our farms, and forests. This being the case, it will be necessary for us to look to Great Britain largely for our market, and in this respect we shall be in competition with the United States for they will be for many years to come the largest exporters of raw materials of any of the nations, and in a great many cases, in the same articles as we produce. It, therefore, seems to me that, apart from all sentimental considerations, which are often the strongest of all, it is a wise business policy to get as close as possible to the hearts and pockets of the British people.

Now, regarding the development of Canada. The more I travel through the United States, and watch the progress of the American people, the more I am convinced that it is very unsafe to conclude that, because a country is externally uninviting and rugged, it is therefore useless. Unquestionably the richest part of the United States naturally is the southern shore of Lake Superior. There are sections of land in the Mesaba range that contain over ten million dollars' worth of iron ore, and who would have thought twenty years ago that Montana, Idaho and Arizona would have developed into such fabulous wealth producers?

In looking at the map of Canada, one cannot but be impressed with the very small part of it which has been developed. The railway system of Canada at the present time simply touches the fringe of its territory, and it seems to me that these people are very short-sighted who doubt the expediency of attempting, through any way of railway building, through any district except those which are known at the present time to have either agricultural or mineral wealth. I do not believe that there is any part of the world's surface where climatic conditions are such that civilized man can live, that is not adapted to some economic purpose or other. For this reason, I believe that the building of the Grand Trunk railway from Quebec to the Pacific coast is a wise and far-reaching plan in the interests of Canada, and one that will be fraught with quite as good results, as the building of the Canadian Pacific railway, which was at the time so much criticized.

Just here it is well to consider a few figures in connection with the marvellous development which has taken place in Canada during the last eight years.

The total foreign trade with Canada in the year 1895 was two hundred and twenty-four million, four hundred and ten thousand, four hundred and eighty-five dollars. ($244,410,485). In 1902 it had increased to $467,064,686, or more than double. There is no question but that the internal trade during this period has increased to a still greater extent, although figures are not available; but the evidence that such is the case is to be found on every hand.

The railway earnings had increased during these eight years from forty-six million, six hundred and fifty-five thousand, eight hundred and eighty-three dollars ($46,655,883) to $89,064,526 or more than double.

The total amount of deposit in Canadian banks increased from one hundred and ninety million, nine hundred and sixteen thousand, nine hundred and thirty-nine dollars ($190,916,939) to $300,520,779 or more than double.

The immigration into Canada had only amounted to 18,790 in the year 1895; in 1902 it amounted to the very respectable number of 123,264.

The revenue of the government of Canada has nearly doubled during this period.

It is, therefore, not very hard to assume that the annual production of wealth in Canada is now more than double what it was eight years ago, and the accumulation of wealth has quite doubled.

Now, some people claim that this has been accomplished during a period of world-wide prosperity, and that what has taken place in Canada is only an incident in a universal period of great development. Nothing can be further from the truth. With the one exception of the United States, there is no other country which has shared in this prosperity. In fact the reverse is the case. In most other countries—Germany, France, Great Britain, and Australia—they have during the greater part of this period, particularly the last three years, been passing through a time of depression.

Now, as a business man, and one who has helped to a small extent to promote this state of affairs, and has some interest in its continuance, I must consider what part the government of Canada has had in its development. Is it because of good judgment and wise business policy on the part of the government, or is it something that would have happened in any case?

Now, as a general proposition, I think that to a large extent this state of affairs has been brought about by the number of people who have gone into the Canadian Northwest. To keep that movement up and to furnish transportation facilities for the people after they get there, is the most important of the tasks of Canadian statesmen today. I know the difficulties there are in getting people to go to the Northwest of Canada, and one of the greatest has been the opposition we have met with from the American railroads, particularly from those known as the "Merger" roads; the Northern Pacific and Great Northern. I thought it a very unwise policy for the government of Manitoba to take steps, just at the commencement of this movement, to crowd the Northern Pacific out of Manitoba, particularly as it was their intention to increase their mileage there and through the Territories, and I anticipated that we would meet with very strong opposition from them when they were not directly interested in taking people into the west. I believe that if we had a great American railroad like the Northern Pacific, interested to the extent of a couple of thousand miles in Canada, we would have secured at least double the number of American settlers.

Another great difficulty with which we have to contend in attracting people from the United States is the very high cost of living in the Canadian Northwest, and particularly of those articles of American manufacture which they have to use, such as agricultural machinery, etc. Nothing would tend to a greater extent to check the movement of immigration into Canada, than any measures that would tend to increase this cost, and yet, as far as I can discern the policy of the Conservative party, it proposes to do just this thing, and this in the face of great prosperity in the manufacturing of Canada.

I believe that nothing would so promptly settle the sentiment of the Canadian Northwest as free trade with the United States; but as a Canadian I know that this policy is impossible, and the tariff may have to be slightly modified in some cases to allow the continuance of our manufactures in their present state of prosperity, but to attempt a wholesale increase in duties to keep out American goods would, in my mind, be suicidal from the standpoint of the Northwest, although it might temporarily work benefit to eastern manufacturers. However, as has already been pointed out in this letter, it is the development of the agricultural resources of Canada that is to bring us our greatest prosperity. There can be no doubt but that the wise and energetic course of the government of the interior regarding immigration has contributed greatly to our progress.

One of the greatest needs in either political, industrial, commercial, or any other sphere of human effort, is strong, vigorous leadership and this is certainly something the Conservative party has not given us since the death of Sir John Macdonald. The people must feel that those who have out for them the path of progress shall not be weakened by divided councils. There is no doubt but that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been a leader in every sense of the word. The Hon. Mr. Tarte thought otherwise and endeavored to do a little leading on his own account, and thereby actually pulled the extinguisher down on himself. The Hon. Mr. Blair, right or wrongly, placed himself in the path of the Grand Trunk Pacific project, but the government is getting along very successfully, apparently, without him.

On the accession of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to power, the population of Canada was torn asunder by a racial and religious question, which had a very bad effect on its development. Nothing can so paralyze the powers and weaken the purposes of the people as having their minds taken up with questions of this kind. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's influence and leadership have been such that no thought of trouble from this source has arisen, and the energies of the people are directed altogether into the paths of productive effort, and he has from the mountain tops seen with a clear eye vision the future of Canada and its greatness and has more correctly interpreted the temper and the best aspirations of its people than any of his contemporaries.

On all the lines which I think essential to permanent progress we are moving rapidly, and I think securely, under present conditions. To make a change and to place ourselves under the weaker leadership and reactionary policy, which seems unfortunately to be characteristic of the Conservative party at the present time, would, it seems to me, be most unwise and imprudent.

Yours truly,
 J. H. HASLAM

The hearty applause of the audience voiced the popular appreciation of the various numbers and Miss Webster and Mrs. Bennett were called on to respond to encore. The singing of the made quartette was also greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Bennett sang as an encore "If you ever marries me."

Before the concluding number on the program "God Preserve Him—Our King" was rendered, Rev. A. Chisholm Grand Master, elected made a very fitting speech thanking the local lodges for their entertainment of the members and delegates to the Grand Lodge.

At the close of the concert the chairs were removed from the auditorium and the hall began.

The hall opened with the grand march, the program being:

First Part—waltz, lancers, two-step, waltz, lancers, three-step, two-step, waltz.

Second Part—waltz, lancers, two-step, waltz, lancers, three-step, two-step, waltz.

The hall was on the most elaborate and magnificent scale ever attempted in Edmonton—if not in the entire west. The floor was in excellent condition and the fashionably dressed throng whirling through the mazes of the dance beneath the blended streamers of red, white and blue, presented an animated picture of surpassing beauty.

The spacious hall afforded room for twenty sets, or over three hundred dancers, on the floor at once and the scene as they swung through the movements of the Lancers was one not easily forgotten.

The visiting members of the Grand Lodge are lead in their praise of the evening's entertainment and of the manner in which they have been treated while in Edmonton.

This morning's session began at 10 o'clock and the afternoon at 2 o'clock. The concluding session of the Grand Lodge.

BURNING SAWDUST

As a result of instructions given by H. S. Young, Fisheries Inspector, the two large saw mills in town are now burning all the saw dust originating in the mills, to prevent it polluting the river and working damage to the fish. The disposal of the dust makes an item of considerable expense but is rendered necessary by the requirements of the ordinance.

TO ENFORCE LIQUOR LAW

The license inspectors throughout the North West have been instructed by the Territorial Government that the liquor law must be strictly enforced throughout the west. One of the results of this is seen in the raised blinds on the windows of the local bars. The law provides that the windows of bars open on the street must not be covered in such manner as to prevent people seeing within from the street. As a result of this a visit from Inspector Cooper the windows of the bars in town are now open to the blinds.

The Opposition Stands Pat On Tariff Matters. The New Grain Inspection Act.

Bulletin Special Dispatch.

Ottawa, Ont., June 9.—The budget debate continues without any new developments. The opposition view of the tariff changes has not yet been voiced by any of their leaders. Messrs. Campbell and Thompson supported the government side in clever speeches. Messrs. Vrooman, Lennox, and Smith spoke for the opposition. Opposition newspapers take the view that the tariff reductions are objectionable and the tariff increase not enough. The new Grain Inspection Act was discussed before a special committee today and yesterday. The new act is practically a consolidation of the existing acts.

Montreal grain interests object to a change in the method of grain inspection there, but the bill is likely to go through as drafted.

PROSPECTS FOR THE FAIR

The prospects for the coming fair are in every way favorable and the indications now are that with favorable weather the exhibition should be bigger and better than ever.

Inquiries are coming in daily from horsemen in all parts of the west, from Winnipeg to the coast, and it is reported that a string of racers will be brought over from Montana. The large purse hung out, together with the circuit arrangement of the western fairs, it is believed, will induce a considerably larger number of owners to visit Edmonton this year than have done so heretofore.

To Hunt Gold at Great Slave Lake

A Vancouver dispatch of June 8th says: James M. Shieff, a former Australian miner, called for the Northwest Territories on a quest for a rich "pocket" of gold which he believes he can locate at Great Slave Lake, in the North West Territories. He bases his belief in the existence of the treasure on statements made him by an Indian. His mission and what he says of his former experiences possess an especial interest to the mining community of British Columbia. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer thus deals with his visit to that city:

A story of difficulties experienced in efforts to locate a rich "pocket" of gold at Great Slave Lake, North West Territories; the probabilities of valuable finds of precious metal in that country and the persistency of an experienced prospector in seeking another attempt to discover the mine after almost losing his life once in a hunt for the pocket, is the story brought to this city by James M. Shieff, of Milwaukee, a former Australian miner, who is now staying at the Hotel Cecil, en route north. According to him the gold he has practically located is more on the style of Australian metal than anything else, and a different color from that found elsewhere on this continent.

Through the blundering of an Indian guide, Mr. Shieff first secured a line on the precious metal. The Indian came into camp one morning with several nuggets in his pockets of the value of which he had not the slightest conception. By close questioning the American elicited the whereabouts of the find, had the Indian draw a rough map of the exact location, and, leading all their supplies in a dug-out owned by the guide and breaking camp, the two started for the scene of the alleged find.

The little craft came within half a mile of the other side of Great Slave Lake, when a squall, prevalent on that sheet of water in the late fall, sprang up and the boat capsized, spilling the occupants in the water. The Indian, injured in some manner, failed to come to the surface again, and Mr. Shieff, after a heroic struggle, made land alone. His provisions had all been lost, together with his rifle and ammunition, and all the weapons he was possessed of was a revolver and a knife. As it was late in the fall, and without provisions or a kit, Shieff was unable to work his find even after he had discovered his exact location, he gave up all idea of using the information at his disposal for a time, and made for the coast, which he reached after many hardships. He then came to the States, and, going east, started to raise money with which to "grab stake" himself for work this year. He sailed to-day for the north with a good outfit, and feeling certain that he will return in a few months a wealthy man. Of his find he said:

"I am absolutely certain that I am on the right track of a pocket of gold that will mean an immense sum of money. The Indian who first made the discovery was a man devoted to me and one who would not, I am convinced, tell me a falsehood. He would have no reason for doing so, and besides I have the evidence of his find in a number of valuable nuggets, all of which I have with me now. These nuggets are of the same color and consistency as Australian gold and gold that, in Australia, is always found in pockets more or less rich."

"In my opinion the Northwest Territories will prove to be a fine mining country. While I prospect much of it in the vicinity of the Great Slave Lake without finding anything but the faintest signs of the precious metal, still that does not mean that there is none there. After I 'made good' on my little discovery, I am going to devote many months to thoroughly going over the country."

Mr. Shieff spent four years in Australia some years ago, and has also worked in the mines in South Africa. He went to the Klondike two years ago, proved unsuccessful in his work there and then drifted into the Northwest Territory, more on a hunting expedition than to discover gold. On this trip he intends going first to Nome, then taking a coaster schooner or a small steamer to Shishareff Inlet and from there down the Mackenzie river.

The Canadian Northwest Homestead Regulations

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting 8 and 16, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved, or provided wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

ENTRY.—Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or, if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10.00 is charged for a homestead entry.

RESIDENCE DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act and amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon any portion of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, reside upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent, may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler has obtained a patent for his homestead, or a certificate for the issue of such patent, countersigned in the manner prescribed by this Act, and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in a vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clauses 2, 3, or 4, must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 30 acres sub-tinced.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the local agent, sub-agent, or Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Information.—Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office, in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office, in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing land to suit them.

Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral lava, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

JAMES A. SMART, Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

EDMONTON MAN SUCCESSFUL

A dispatch from Montreal says: "Dr. Parkin today received the report of the Oxford examiners upon the papers of candidates examined on April 15th and 14th throughout the United States and in those provinces of Canada which have no college affiliated with Oxford. Altogether 120 candidates have passed from the different states and territories of the union and thus became eligible for selection as Rhodes scholars. This probably represents about one-third or one-fourth of all the candidates who took the examinations. The candidates have been accepted from all the states and territories offering candidates except four. Those for which no candidates have passed are Arizona, Florida, Mississippi and Nevada. There was no candidate from New Mexico, and no scholarship was offered in the Indian Territory. In no less than thirteen states only one candidate has passed. Candidates passed from all the provinces of Canada in which scholars have not already been appointed, in Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Northwest Territories and British Columbia. In the Dominion candidates have passed as follows: Prince Edward Island, Wm. G. Cameron; Manitoba, John MacLean, Walter Durman; Northwest Territories, Ralph V. Bellamy; British Columbia, W. A. Davidson, E. K. DeBeek. The other candidates from these provinces are exempted from qualifying examinations as graduates of affiliated colleges.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTES

Messrs. Lindley H. Bennett and H. D. McCall of the department of education, Regina, have been in the district during the week conducting teachers' institutes. That at the Fort opened on Monday and continued throughout Tuesday. The institute at St. Albert was held on Thursday and was attended by the teachers from town, a holiday being declared in the Public School departments. Today and tomorrow Messrs. Bennett and McCall are in Strathcona. The sessions of the institute there tomorrow will be attended by the teachers from town.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

A Teachers' Institute meeting was held yesterday in the convent at St. Albert, at which profitable and interesting addresses were given by Messrs. McColl and Bennett of Regina Normal School and Mr. Perrett of Edmonton. Mr. Perrett's talk on Nature Study and Mr. Bennett's talk on drawing and manual training illustrated by work done in that line by all grades of pupils, acts as the best illustration of the advances made in recent years along educational lines. Mr. McColl's talk on reading served well to bind the best of the old system with the best of the new and to show that with all its faults the old fashioned and discarded A B C method of teaching reading has much in its favor.

Before the business of the day began the visiting teachers were introduced to a chorus made up of Indian boys and girls from the Industrial School. It was part singing and reflected very creditably on the work of the Sisters. After the afternoon session the visitors were entertained at a garden party on the beautifully shaded lawn. Music was rendered by the Indian Industrial School band while a class of about fifteen small boys dressed in uniform performed with dumb-bells. Ice cream and cake were served and the visitors left with a feeling that the institution is doing good work and that the Sisters know how to extend a hand of friendly welcome.

Mr. John Ross of John Ross & Co. left this morning with a fleet of scows laden with merchandise for points down the river. For some days the scows have been building on the opposite side of the river at Walter's yard, ten in all having been constructed and loaded. The cargo consists chiefly of canvas. The destination of the supplies is a point ten miles this side of Battleford, though a portion of the shipment goes to the British Colony.
